

Worksheet 10: Turing Machine Variants

Computer Science 311
Spring 2016

Exercise 1 Show that a Turing machine is equivalent in power to a pushdown automaton with two stacks. Since we don't know the form of the language that these machines decide, you may describe this two-stack automaton using the same informal descriptions that we use for Turing machines.